

HARVEY'S LAKE HISTORY

Inns & Boarding Houses

The Avon Inn, later the Pine Grove Lodge, was a popular “resort” for decades.

In addition to the Lake’s major hotels, dozens of smaller facilities--lodges, cabins, bungalows, boarding houses, inns & campgrounds--accommodated the seasonal crowds, as well as laborers and workmen who came to the Lake to harvest ice, cut lumber, or serve tourists. All of the big hotels are gone now, razed to make way for newer structures, or destroyed by fire. But several of these smaller establishments remain, some as apartments and at least one as an office building.

The Avon Inn / Pine Grove Lodge

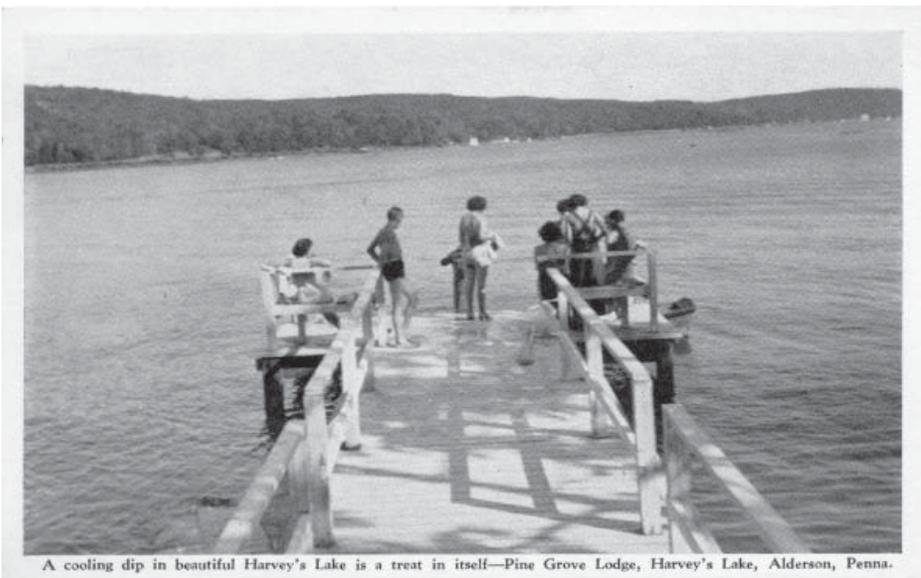

The Avon Inn was developed before World War I by Noah and Dora Raskin and expanded to become a vacation spot with over 50 acres of ground. It was located on a hill overlooking the Lake near the Picnic Grounds. It had a small resort atmosphere.

The Avon Inn was acquired by Frank Lutinski in 1937. Three years later he reopened the hotel as Pine Grove Lodge, a popular vacation setting for thirty-one years. In addition to sports and games, the Pine Grove Lodge filled summer evenings with dancing, dramatics, campfires and masquerades.

Rooms and meals were available at the main lodge. Well-shaded cabins and trailer sites could be rented. The Lodge provided a bus from Wilkes-Barre to the Lake and Sunday transportation to church services at the Lake.

In the early morning hours of May 13, 1980, Pine Grove Lodge was lost to fire.

A cooling dip in beautiful Harvey's Lake is a treat in itself—Pine Grove Lodge, Harvey's Lake, Alderson, Penna.

Carpenter's Hotel / Sloppy Tony's

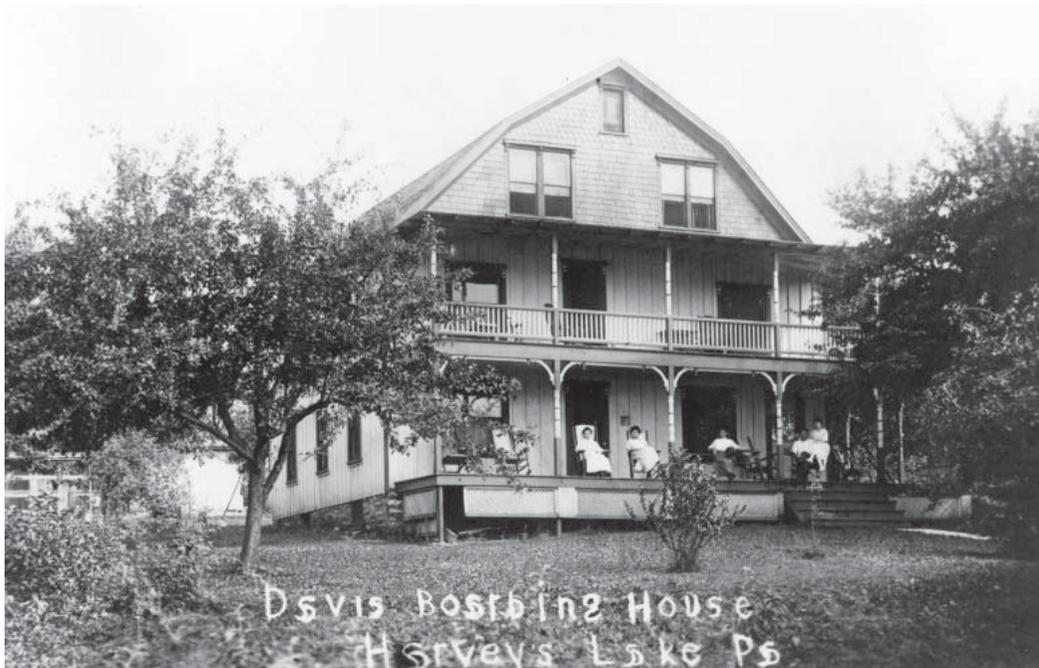

In 1908 the Rhoads Hotel at Sunset was destroyed by fire. A separate Rhoades tavern, built in 1883, survived and was converted into a small hotel. Frank Rhoads died in 1909 and his daughter, Amy, managed the hotel and later married J. D. Carpenter. They expanded the inn into a two-story facility known as Carpenter's Hotel. In later years the facility was associated with Kitty Walsh as a tea-room.

In 1936 Carpenter's Hotel was converted by Anthony Burnett into a night club known as Sloppy Tony's. In mid-October 1946 an outdoor advertising sign at "Tony's" caught fire. A strong wind fed the fire destroying the club, but firemen did save an attached dwelling. The night club was well-known for its heavy carpet of peanut shells, a trademark of Anthony Burnett, owner of the club. The club had been closed during the War while Burnett was in the service.

In May 1948 Sloppy Tony's reopened, apparently as a rebuilt club.

On Christmas Day 1950 Sloppy Tony and his wife, Ruth Johnson Burnett, died in a tragic accident at their South Wilkes-Barre home when they were overcome by gas fumes. They had spent the previous night out with Ray Hottle, owner of the famed Hottle's restaurant, and it was Hottle who discovered the tragedy the next day.

Davis Boarding House

The Davis Boarding House, very near the Picnic Grounds, is one example of numerous short-term summer rental facilities during the Lake's early resort history.

The Davis facility was later known as the home of Squire Ralph Davis who also had a gas station and store here. He also maintained a restaurant on the Lake side of the road next to the steamboat company's coal house – near the Picnic Grounds.

Davis lost an arm in an accident at the Harvey's Lake sawmill at Alderson in his youth. Yet he had a reputation as a crack marksman with a hunting rifle.

His son, Elwood "Woody" Davis was a champion Lake swimmer.

Squire Ralph Davis also operated a store and restaurant next to the Lake Transit Company coal house (partially visible to the left). The building was later relocated to the Picnic Grounds and became Major's Boat Rentals. This view is circa 1920.

LOG CABIN COTTAGES, STONEHURST HEIGHTS AT HARVEY'S LAKE, PA.

Stonehurst Lodge

Ted Frantz, Jr., acquired lakefront property from the lumberman Arthur L. Stull in 1937 to create Stonehurst Cabins – a combination of rental and lot development facilities. The Lodge and log-cabin cottages were uniquely modern with complete utilities.

Stonehurst also offered a large private sandy beach to delight guests. After the development of the attractive resort, Frantz lost his life in a tragic boating accident one late evening in early September 1941 when his speedboat struck the moored but unlighted seaplane of Mack A Stogner, a visitor from New York City.

In later years Stonehurst, adjacent to the Harvey's Lake Yacht Club, was acquired by the late Tom Garrity and is the site of the Garrity realty office.

SPEND YOUR VACATION AT HARVEY'S LAKE, PA.
Healthful . . . Restful
HIGH IN THE MOUNTAINS—JUST 16 MILES N. W. OF WILKES-BARRE

Pennsylvania's largest Natural Lake, nestling in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Elevation, 1500 feet. Nine mile concrete road around the lake, following the water's edge. This lake has no inlet, but is fed by springs, therefore the water is pure and clear as crystal. About 1500 cottages surround the lake. On one side of the lake is the "Stonehurst" Log Cabin Group. It is a section of cottages built on Log Cabin style with all conveniences. Gas, electric, running water and inside bathroom facilities. Each cottage containing two bedrooms, bath, kitchen, living-room-dinette. Studio couch in living room, therefore, sleeping accommodations for six. Beautifully furnished, and fully equipped for housekeeping. Simmons inner-spring mattresses. Drinking water supplied from own spring—icy cold at all times. Due to the elevation there are NO mosquitoes. The warmest night requires a blanket for sleeping comfort. Ice-man, milkman, butcher, grocer, etc., come to the door every day—all the conveniences of home.

Cabins rented by the week, month or season. At the Main Lodge, rooms by the day.

You may indulge in a variety of sports. Horse-back riding, bathing, motor-boating, fishing, canoeing, hiking and automobilizing. Beautiful drives through the mountains.

There are a number of Casino's and Night Clubs around the lake. Also one of the largest amusement parks in the State, where roller-skating, bingo, and everything that goes with an amusement park may be enjoyed.

Pack your bag, fill up with gasoline and follow the map; good roads all the way—a three-hour run. Spend a week-end at Harvey's Lake—you will come away knowing it is the ideal spot for your summer vacation.

Tabard Inn / Wa Hoo Inn

The Tabard Inn, adjacent to the Picnic Grounds, was originally operated by John and Isabella Merical from 1909 to 1921. It had a capacity of 25 with a daily rate in 1915 of $1.25 and an $8.00 weekly rate.

William and Elizabeth Mann acquired the Tabard in 1921. The Tabard was sold to Tony Tiberio in April 1949. With a large addition it became the Wa Hoo Inn and by the 1980s the Harvey's Lake Hotel.

The original Tabard is now enclosed within the expanded structure and is now apartments.
